Packing House Investigation.
The investigation of the Chicago packing houses by Charles P. Neill & James B. Reynolds, specially commissioned by President Roosevelt for a thorough reform of the inspection system in the meat industry. The first inspection was made by George P. McCabe, solicitor for the agricultural department. Messrs. Neill and Reynolds were sent to Chicago to check up McCabe's report. Charles P. Neill is a native of Illinois and has been commissioner of labor since February, 1905. He was educated at Georgetown university, took post-graduate courses at Johns Hopkins and Chicago universities and was for many years professor of economics at the Catholic university, Washington. On the recommendation of John Mitchell, president of the United Mine Workers, Mr. Neill was appointed assistant recorder of the anthracite coal strike commission of 1903.

In the Lighthouse.
With meat investigations and labor strikes, Pensacola seems destined not to be lost sight of in the public prints. —Palatka Times Herald.
